Fish on the Rocks in Sydney is a long-standing favorite for fresh seafood served in a cozy and inviting environment near Millers Point. While the dishes like the blue-cod fillet and barramundi stuffed with prawns receive high praise for their tenderness and flavor, some diners have noted disappointments with the scallops and undercooked creme brulee. The restaurant's charming historical location in The Rocks neighborhood adds to its appeal, along with a friendly and attentive staff and a good selection of wines.
