The restaurant, located on the second floor, may be small in size but offers delicious North Indian food. The ambiance is beautiful and the Crescent thali is particularly recommended. The restaurant is great for families and students, offering a discount for BHU students. The paneer butter masala is a standout dish, served in generous portions. Despite being on the pricier side, the restaurant is a comfortable setting for a family dinner. The service is top-notch, with a short wait time between ordering and receiving the food. Overall, a must-visit place for delicious vegetarian food with friendly staff and great hospitality.
